Comments: Lance, I love the aesthetic and feel of your website. It comes off as creative and bright. I also love the font that you used. The links on your navbar to jump down are broken, so it's not quite working, but I imagine you'll have that up and running. I like the images that you chose for your details of your portfolio. Your About section is great, it sums up your experience and it details the work you've done. I love that you're adding personal details, it humanizes you and clients will love it. I would bold the font on your About section, the grey is a little hard to read. I also like that you highlight your experience as a DJ, and put headphones on your header image. It looks like your header gets cut out when you scroll down, and images get in front of it. I had the same problem and used a bootstrap header, which corrected that easily. Overall, you have a great website here and after a few corrections, this is going to look awesome!
